GENERAL E. L. HAYES

Oldest Civil War General — Pioneer and Founder of Wauseon — Dies at the Age of Ninety-Seven at His Home in Verona, New Jersey.

The following clipping from the New York Times of January 2nd 1917 was handed us by Mr. Phil Byers and will be of interest to many of our readers. General Hayes was one of the founders of Wauseon and erected some of the very first buildings on the site of our village. He was an uncle of Mr. G. B. Hayes, Mrs. W. W. Touvelle, Miss Mabel and Mr. M. E. Read. He is remembered by many of the Civil War veterans in Wauseon, having shared the hardships of war prisons with some of them.

Verona, N. J., Jan. 1.—Brig. Gen. Edwin Louis Hayes, the oldest living civil war general and a cousin of the late President Rutherford B. Hayes died today at his home, 130 Claremont Avenue, in his ninety-eighth year. At his ninety-seventh birthday celebration, last Friday, he said that his only wish was that he might live to be 100 years of age.

General Hayes was born in Ellipton, N. Y., and was a son of the late Harvey B. Hayes. At the outbreak of the civil war he was captain of the Northwestern Rifles, being transferred later in the same year to the Forty-fourth Illinois Volunteer Infantry, Second Brigade, Third Division, of the Western Department, and was promoted to Major, and later Lieutenant Colonel of days of 1863. General Hayes was captured and sent to Libby prison, where he was confined for eleven months, later being sent to Belle Isle and Andersonville Prisons. While at Libby he helped to build the famous underground passage through which a number of Union men escaped, but was stricken with rheumatism, and was unable to avoid himself of their chance for freedom.

After the release General Hayes returned to the front, where Brigadier Commander Riley and Dolittle commended him for bravery at the battles of Franklin and Marshallville. During January, 1869, he received the rank of Colonel, later being promoted Brigadier General for "meritorious services." During the mustering out exercises at the end of the war, General Hayes was placed in charge of the confiscated property in Wilmington, Del., where his administration made such a favorable impression that President Lincoln appointed him Reconstruction Governor of North Carolina, where he held office for five months. Then General Hayes was sent to New York City to take charge of the confiscated property there, General Meigs, Quartermaster General, said that his work there was such that he saved many millions of dollars for the Government.

Following this, General Hayes founded a commission business in New York, later dealing in stocks and bonds at 171 Broadway, in that city. He retired from active business after his ninetieth year.

He was one of the founders of the Republican Party, and one of the delegates to the convention that nominated General John C. Fremont. In addition he had voted for every Republican Presidential candidate since the birth of the party.

Two daughters survive him, Mrs. H. H. Karns, of Denver, Colorado and Mrs. E. H. Graves, of Glen Ridge, N. J. One grandchild, a son, and four grandsons and three great-granddaughters.

Mr. E. Bradley, an aged man of Delta died from cancer of the stomach last Monday morning.

Mrs. Burton Pratt of Swanton, had a major operation last week Thursday.

R. W. Scott is very poorly. Menno S. Rupp of Archbold, underwent an operation for appendicitis on Monday morning.

Miss Aletta Upp who underwent an operation two weeks ago was removed to her home Monday afternoon.

Winter Brings Colds to Children A child rarely goes through the whole winter without a cold, and every mother should have a reliable remedy for colds, fever, sore throat, tight chest and croupy coughs are sure symptoms. A dose of Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey will loosen the phlegm, relieve the congested lungs and stop the cough. Its antiseptic pine balsams heal and soothe. For croup, whooping cough and chronic bronchitis troubles try Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey. At all Druggists, 25c.

Col. Wm. Cody, "Buffalo Bill" died at the home of his sister in Denver last Wednesday at 12:05 p. m. He was 80 years, 10 months and 14 days of age at the time of decease.
